

John Mattern Alumni Award for Faculty

Zurich International School

October 2013

The alumni of ZIS, in collaboration with ZIS's Director, and the School's Community Relations Office, will honor talented faculty and staff through an annual award for dedicated service to education and to students. This award is named for John Mattern, the founder of the school's precursor, the American International School of Zurich, an educator renowned for his ability to inspire and influence students and faculty alike.

Criteria:

- The honoree must have demonstrated an exceptionally high degree of individual attention to, and concern for, students in all areas of school life.
- To be eligible, nominees may not have served as the overall director of the school (ZIS, AISZ or IPSZ) at any time during its history. Additionally, nominees must have worked at ZIS or its predecessor schools for more than three consecutive years and be retired; or worked three or more consecutive years and no longer be employed by ZIS for at least two years. Nominees may have served as teachers, administrators or School staff. The award may be made posthumously.
